Peony Price List

June 1, 1925

SIZE—Prices quoted herein are for strong divisions having two or more eyes.

TERMS—Cash with order or satisfactory reference. C. O. D. orders should be accompanied by one-quarter the purchase price.

DISCOUNT FOR CASH—10 per cent discount on orders from $10 to $25.00; 15 per cent discount on orders from $25 to $50; 20 per cent discount on orders from $50 up.

SHIPMENTS—Will be made any time after Sept. 1st.

ORDERS—Should be placed as early as possible as stock of some varieties is limited. Orders accepted subject to stock being unsold when order is received.

VISITORS—Are welcome at all times, but no orders taken on Sunday. It is far more satisfactory to make selection in the field from seeing the flowers than from any printed description.

PEONY CULTURE

Peonies thrive in any soil that is not too sandy or too wet. They should have plenty of sunshine. Never permit fresh manure to come in contact with the roots. Bone meal or wood ashes are a safe proposition if not overdone, and well decomposed barnyard manure may be worked into the ground around the plants but should not directly touch the roots.

Peonies should be planted $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 feet apart, and for field culture, rows should be 4 feet apart.

The plants should be set so the top buds are 2 to 3 inches below the surface of the ground. Deeper planting may cause shy blooming.

The best time to plant is from Sept. 1st to Nov. 1st, but may be set until the ground freezes.

Mulch lightly the first winter after planting, when the ground has frozen, to keep the roots from heaving.

Cultivate—that is, stir the ground around the plants during the growing season, and keep free from weeds.

Do not expect too much the first year after planting, but the second year there should be good bloom, getting more plentiful each succeeding year.

In cutting blooms, allow two or more leaves to remain on each stalk below the point of cutting, for the development of the root.

Peonies should be planted more generally on account of their beauty, hardiness, freedom from insects and diseases, and their permanence.

Now I'm older and I'm wiser, and I've peonies by the score
And I wish that in my garden I had room for many more.
They've won their fancy titles, and they've won the heart of me
And I feel a little gladder when their blossoms rich I see.
